Today, one in nine people around the world suffer from hunger and malnutrition. Five million children under the age of 5 die as a result of hunger-related causes every year.

Paradoxically this hunger exists in a world richly endowed with resources, as greed, poor governance and unjust economic policies perpetuate poverty, chronic hunger and conflicts.

On this Sunday, we proclaim our trust in the unfailing hope of God’s provision (Hebrews 6:18; 1 Peter 5:7), even as we commit to responsible stewardship of the world’s resources (Genesis 1:25–30).

TAKE ACTION TODAY
Worship and advocacy resources are online at washingtonmemo.org/food-security/.

Support MCC’s efforts to reduce hunger at donate.mcc.org.